3. Artropolis and Art Chicago

Art lovers from around the world come to Chicago for Artropolis, the city's exciting celebration of arts, antiques and culture. The citywide event takes place April 25–28 and is anchored by five diverse art shows at the Merchandise Mart. The main event is Art Chicago, a renowned contemporary art fair showcasing more than 140 of the world's finest galleries. The other can't-miss shows are NEXT, an invitational show for emerging art; the International Antiques Fair, which features more than 110 top dealers; The Intuit Show of Folk and Outsider Art; and The Artist Project, a show and sale for new and undiscovered artists. During Artropolis, numerous venues throughout the city — including museums, galleries, parks, clubs and concert halls — present educational programs, guided tours, and musical and dance performances. Many events offer discounted admission to Artropolis ticket holders. Visit the Web site at www.mmart.com/artropolis for more information.
